

Dear Supplier,

In reference to the recent Escape, the detection of which had a significant impact on the supply chain, the Pratt & Whitney Group in Poland would like to remind you of the requirements for the control and verification of data contained in the certificates of purchased materials for compliance with relevant material standards.

This requirement is defined, among others, by the AS9100 Aerospace Standard paragraph 8.4.

Example:

The certificate provided by the laboratory indicated that one of the obtained test results did not meet the materials standard requirements. This fact was not noticed by the controller verifying the certificates, non-compliant material was sent to the Customer.

I would like to ask to introduce this information to all employees involved in the processes of fulfilling orders for Pratt & Whitney Poland.

Thank you for your cooperation.

The P&W SQA team in Poland
